

I strongly oppose the plan to allow companies to own more outlets than are already permitted. Diversity of expression is at grave risk, and there have been too few opportunities for public comment.